OSD Declassification/Release Instructions on File

ADMINISTRATION

25 April 1969

MEMORANDUM FOR ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF DEFENSE (ADMINISTRATION)

SUBJECT: The Legislative Branch
(Security Clearances/Access)

The Charter of the Assistant to the Secretary of Defense (Legislative Affairs), Department of Defense Directive No. 5148.5 provides that he is the principal staff assistant to the Secretary of Defense for DOD relations with the Congress and that one of his functions is to:

"Provide for Department of Defense process of personal security clearances of members of Congressional staffs."

The Charter of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Administration) Department of Defense Directive No. 5110.1 requires that in his furnishing of administrative support for the OSD and other organizations he will provide:

"..... personnel and physical security services....."

The ASD(A) has, further, among his Delegations of Authority from the Secretary (Encl. to the Charter) to:

"Clear personnel for access to Top Secret, Secret and Confidential material and information, in accordance with the provisions of Department of Defense Directive No. 5210.8, as revised, Subject: Policy on Investigation and Clearance of Department of Defense Personnel for Access to Classified Defense Information."

The procedure for granting security clearances to Congressional staff members has become well understood among the Members of Congress. Attached for information is an abstract of remarks of the Honorable L. Mendel Rivers to the House Armed Services Committee upon the occasion of his assuming its Chairmanship. Congressman Rivers' statements reflect the substantive guidelines of the Office of the Secretary of Defense covering security clearances.

It has been agreed between the DATS(LA) and Director, Security Division, OASD(A) that:

Any request to the Department of Defense or any of its entities for a security clearance, as described above, is to be referred to the ATS(LA) for appropriate action. That office has developed and maintains direct liaison with the offices of the Members of Congress and the Chairmen of the respective Committees of The Congress to ensure that the requests are official, suitably justified and submitted in writing by the appropriate Member of Congress. No action is taken by the Department of Defense to clear a staff member without an expressed request from a Member of Congress. The office of the ATS(LA) takes all necessary actions as may be necessary to secure such information from the staff member in order to initiate action for clearance.

The ATS (LA) forwards to the Director, Security Division, ASD(A), a copy of letter from the Member of Congress with a copy of return acknowledgment to the Member, together with the necessary information concerning the staff member, including Statements of Personal History, Fingerprint Charts, and Secrecy Agreements.

The Security Division conducts National Agency Checks and Background Investigations and evaluates the resultant information in accordance with the criteria set forth in DOD Directive 5210.8, referred to above.

In favorable determinations the Director, Security Division, notifies ATS(LA) in writing of the granting of a security clearance of the level requested to the staff member and also enters this clearance in the Index Center to support inquiries concerning the security clearance status of the staff member.

The ATS(LA) upon receipt of the clearance notice from Security Division thereupon advises the Member of Congress by letter of the security clearance approval for the staff member whom he nominated.

A clearance granted to a staff member is valid only so long as he remains under the supervision of the Member of Congress who requested the clearance.

There are infrequent requests by Members of Congress for the clearance of a staff aide to, e.g., accompany the Congressman on an official trip, to attend a classified briefing with him or on his behalf, to take an official orientation trip sponsored by one of the military services. These requests are considered in the same light as other requests for clearances. However, upon completion of the investigative inquiries, which are limited to National Agency Checks, a provisional type of security clearance is granted in favorable cases. An Interim Secret or Interim Top Secret approval, as appropriate, is given with the additional caveat that it is valid only for the purpose and period of time established in the request and that it automatically expires. The Congressman is advised, too, that should a justification for continuing the staff aides clearance exist, that then the usual full qualifying procedures must be followed, as described above herein.

Should there develop from the investigative inquiries information indicating that:

- a. The granting of a security approval may not be clearly consistent with the interests of national security, the information is furnished to the ATS(LA), or
- b. Other factors relating to the suitability of a staff aide have been developed, this information is furnished to the ATS(LA) for evaluating a staff aide for clearance.

In either case, the Director, Security Division, is responsible for furnishing security advice and guidance. Should there be an instance as in a. above the ATS(LA) would co-ordinate an adverse finding with ASD(A) and then inform the Member of Congress of the denial of clearance of the staff aide. In an instance as b. above, the ATS(LA) would resolve the matter as he deems appropriate. His handling of the matter will vary considerably based on the particular set of circumstances. For the most part, recommendations will range from discussion with the Member of Congress to have the request for clearance withdrawn or to agree upon such safeguards over the Subject as to prevent embarrassment to the Member or the DOD to finding in favor of the staff aide without discussion with the Congressman.

Should a case develop where a member of Congress insisted on a clearance despite an indication of the possibility of a security risk the ATS(LA) would advise the Director, Security Division, who would notify the ASD(A) of the problem and request his determination of what action should be taken.

The authorities and procedures for the granting of access clearance to a USIB program, as distinguished from security clearance, for a staff employee of the Congress are now the responsibility of the Defense Intelligence Agency when a DoD requirement is involved. Until recently (October 1968) these access approvals for compartmented programs were handled entirely by the Central Intelligence Agency.

It has been determined that the DIA has briefed but two employees of the Congress on these programs, Roland A. Paul and Walter Pincus who are on the staff of the Senate Ad Hoc Sub-committee on U. S. Security Agreements and Commitments Abroad.

The CIA also maintains identities of staff members whom it has briefed and the respective programs for which they have been approved for access in its Special Clearance Center. The release of information concerning these staff members and their access is restricted to approved liaison channels of the intelligence community.

The basic security instructions for Special Intelligence, SI/SAO Clearances, and SI/SAO Travel and Assignment Restrictions which are utilized by DIA are set forth in its DIA Regulations.

It is pointed out that the criteria in DOD Directive 5210.8, used in the granting of security clearance by OSD Security Division is not equivalent to the more comprehensive investigative coverage necessary to the DIA access approval. E.g., such items as spouse checks, immediate family citizenship checks, foreign connections, divorce records and to some extent personal interview, are required by DIA but not necessarily by OSD. The more extensive requirements of DIA are covered in its Personnel Security Program, DIA Regulations.

Attached are three tables showing staff members of The Congress who have been granted security clearances by OSD.

[No. 1]

ORGANIZATION OF HOUSE COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES,
89TH CONGRESS

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES,
Washington, D.C., Monday, February 1, 1965.

The committee met, pursuant to notice, at 10 a.m., the Honorable L. Mendel Rivers, chairman of the committee, presiding.

The CHAIRMAN. Let the committee come to order.

Members of the committee, for many years, like many of you, I have listened to one of the great statesmen of our era, the Honorable Carl Vinson, address the members as he presided over this committee at the opening of each new Congress.

Today, fate and fortune transfers this privileged responsibility to me.

I am not sitting here as a successor to Carl Vinson. No one will really ever succeed him. But I shall do my best to fill his footsteps and, with your help, some day I hope to achieve some portion of the success he had attained as the chairman of this great committee.

I would like to congratulate each of you on your reelection, or your election, and especially do I congratulate those who have been elected to membership on this committee.

This begins the 19th year in which the Committee on Armed Services has been in existence.

Prior to 1947, there were two committees dealing with defense matters—the Naval Affairs Committee and the Military Affairs Committee. The Armed Services Committee was formed as a result of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 and met for the first time in January of 1947.

We have more new members on this committee in this Congress than at any prior time in the history of the committee. So I trust the older members will bear with me while I discuss some of the responsibilities and procedures of the committee.

This committee has jurisdiction over the common defense generally and, particularly, the size and composition of the Armed Forces; pay, promotion, retirement, and other benefits and privileges of the Armed Forces; strategic and critical materials for the common defense; scientific research and development in support of the armed services; all forts, arsenals, military reservations, Navy yards, ammunition depots; airbases, missile sites, the fantastic complex of military communication networks; the procurement of military aircraft, naval vessels, and missiles; the organization of the Department of Defense; the Selective Service System; and even the conservation, development, and use of naval petroleum shale and oil reserves.

OVER

Now I would like to read, for the guidance of our new members, the definition of "top secret", "secret", and "confidential", and tell you who may have access to classified information, what it is all about. I will make copies available of this for all members.

The three general categories of classified information—top secret, secret, and confidential, and necessary clearances for staff personnel:

The following is a description of the three different types of classified information referred to in Department of Defense classified documents.

The use of the classification "top secret" is limited to defense information or material which requires the highest degree of protection. The "top secret" is applied only to information or material of paramount importance to the defense of the Nation, information which, if released might lead to a definite break in diplomatic relations affecting the defense of the United States, an armed attack against the United States or its Allies, a war or which would compromise military or defense plans, intelligence operations, or scientific or technological developments vital to the national defense.

The classification of "secret" is limited to defense information or material which, if disclosed to an unauthorized recipient could result in serious damage to the Nation. The "secret" classification is applied when unauthorized release of the material might jeopardize the international relations of the United States, endanger the effectiveness of a program or policy of vital importance to the national defense, compromise important military or defense plans, scientific or technological developments important to the national defense, or reveal important intelligence operations.

The classification of "confidential" is limited to defense information or material which, if disclosed, could be prejudicial to the defense interests of the Nation. This classification is applied to personnel security investigations, operational and battle reports which contain information of value to the enemy, intelligence reports, military radio frequency and call sign allocations of special significance and other devices and material relating to communications security, troop strengths, mobilization plans, etc.

There is widespread misunderstanding as to the clearance of Members of Congress. The Department of Defense does not "investigate" or "clear" Members of Congress. Members of Congress by their election to office are authorized to have access to classified defense information. Such information is made available with the understanding that it will be held in confidence, appropriately safeguarded, and not released to unauthorized persons, including persons on their staffs who have not been properly investigated and cleared.

Staff employees of the Congress must be properly cleared prior to being given access to classified Department of Defense information. A Member of Congress may request that a staff member be cleared by communicating his request in writing to the Secretary of Defense. No action is taken by the Department of Defense to "clear" a staff member without an expressed request from a Member of Congress. Once such a request is communicated, all necessary actions will be taken to initiate any required investigation, secure such information as may be necessary from the staff member, etc. Upon completion of all necessary actions, the Member of Congress making the request is furnished written confirmation that clearance has been granted.

Because of the cost involved in "clearing" an individual for access to classified defense information, clearance should only be requested when a staff member is required to have knowledge or custody of classified information in the performance of his official duties.

A clearance granted to a staff member is valid only so long as he remains under the supervision of the Member of Congress who requested the clearance.

If the staff member transfers to another position, i.e., goes from the personal staff of one Member of Congress to the staff of another Member or transfers from one committee of the Congress to another committee or to another position on the staff of the Congress, the Member of Congress who requested the clearance is responsible for notifying the Department of Defense so that the staff member's clearance may be withdrawn. The same applies if the staff member goes from a "need to know" position to a position on the same committee or in the same office where he no longer requires access to classified information.

Under no circumstances should a staff member be given access to material or information of a classified nature if he is not cleared for such access nor should he be given access to a higher classification of material than the level for which he has been cleared.

Safeguarding of classified Department of Defense information is covered by the provisions of the Espionage Act, title 18, United States Code, sections 793 and 794, as amended. Title 18, United States Code, section 1001, concerns the making of false official statements. This latter section would apply, for example, to staff members submitting personal history statements in connection with being granted a security clearance.
